Frequently Asked Questions

How do IV Infusions work?

IVNT delivers concentrated nutrients directly to your cells through the bloodstream while bypassing your GI tract, thus avoiding the potency loss of some nutrients that are administered orally. Therefore IVNT can be a powerful aid in everything from immune enhancement to detoxification.

How should I prepare for my IV Infusion?

Coming in for an IV vitamin infusion? Here are a few things you can do before your next IV to help make it a great experience!

Hydrate. Even though we are administering liquids, it will be easier to start your IV if your veins are plump from proper hydration.

Eat. The IV infusions naturally lower your blood sugar so it's important to eat some protein before coming in for your infusion. We do provide snacks to purchase should you forget.

Get moving. We generate heat as we move and that makes our vessels dilate, making them easier to access. Helpful hint: park a few blocks away and walk to get your heart pumping.

Avoid anti-histamine or decongestant drugs before your IV. While these medications are good for clearing stuffy noses and relieving allergies, they tend to constrict blood vessels. If you're using them due to allergies or flu, make sure to really hydrate.

Relax & breathe. At the Cameron Wellness Center, we want you to have an enjoyable experience while receiving your IV infusion, so relax, breathe and let us take care of you!

When Should I Get An IV Infusion?

The moment you feel a little under the weather! Obviously it is best to get an infusion BEFORE symptoms worsen, although anytime during the course of an illness is advised. Other times to get an IV; during times of stress, anxiety, or exposure to toxic substances and before or after traveling, surgery or dental exams.

Whatever your situation or problem, an IV infusion will decrease the severity of your condition and help you heal fast!
